WHAT YOU MAY HOPE FOR.

We take the following expose the Force Bill from the National Re-publican, a journal published at Washington, and high in authority in the Republican camp:

"With the Lodge National Election Law in full ferce over the South and various Democratic strongholds up North, we may confidently look for a different state of political affairs than now exists. New York city will then return several more Republican Congressmen than now, while more than twenty negro Representatives from the South will render the Republican control of the future Congresses abs lutely safe and secure. Heavy taxes should be laid upon the property of the whites to develop; and extend the public school system of those States schools for the two rac should be abolished, and the plan bringing the youth of both colors into close and equal relation in schoo given a fair trial, as one of the most potent elements to breat the South. The State laws agains be repealed, and any discrimination blacks in the matt learning trades or obtaining employ while the colored man's right to hold office should be sacredly protected

WORK FOR CLEVELAND.

the Local Democracy Enforce Behalf.

To-day I went on an exploring expedition on my own hook. pedition on my own hook. I met the boys who work up the districts. Per-haps many of the readers of the Re-public have never heard of the Hon. T. D. Sullivan, but every reader of any New York newspaper is undoubt-edly familiar with Timothy Dry Dol-lar Sullivan. He has been elected to the New York Legislature six times and hes just been nominated to the New York Legislature six times, and has just been nominated for the seventh time. Dry Dollar Sullivan is very candid. He admitted that he was not particularly stuck on Cleveland. "But," he said, "the honor of Tammany is involved, and we're going to show the country Democrats that we're loyal and true. It districts is order to give 2.700 My district is going to give 2,700 more votes than we gave in 1888."
"How do you know?" I asked

"Because I've counted them," said

Mr Sullivan then told me about a " in his district, who had been "skicker" in his district, who had been talking rather extravagantly about very voting for Harrison. Mr. Croker, the leader of Tammany Hail, heard of Af, lies and be sent word to Sullivan to bring the "skicker", before him. Testerday "oatermoon the "skicker" in company Mr. Sullivan, called on Mr. Croker at he is Mr. Sullivan, called on Mr. Croker at Tammany Hall. They were saluted cordially by Mr. Croker. The "kicker" said he was going to take off his coat and work as earnestly and as cordially as he ever did for the local ticket. Mr. Croker asked him who he was going to vote for for President. He would not vote for Cleveland. said he would not vote for Cleveland.
"All r'ght," said Croaker, "you have a right to vote for whoever you please but the test of loyality to Tanmany Hall at the next election will be a vote for Cleveland for President of the United States.

"Let me see," said Mr. Croker, tak-ing a little book from his drawer and ing a little book from his drawer and turning over a few leaves. "So-and so and So-and-so (naming a number of men) flave been appointed to offices under the City Government at You tell them to look out for something else to do. Every one of their heads will fall off within

And Mr. Croker closed his little book and closed the interview.

Two hours later, as Mr. Dry Dollar Sullivan informs me, the "kicker" called on Mr. Croker, and was among the most enthusiastic Cleveland men in New York.

Needed Improvements Manufacturing interests have developed inventions far in advance of the farm or the household. In these circles, where there is need of important improvement, there are many of tant improvement, there are many of the same old implements which were in use half a century ago. There is need of a farm wagon which will not sink deep in mud or sand when a load is to be drawn. Who has ever put an eight-inch tire on a road-wagon? A wide band tire would roll over mud or sand, instead of sinking in mud or sand, instead of sinking in and becoming clogged as the narrow thin tires now do. There is nothing patent-able in this idea, and the manufacturer who first puts upon the market such a vehicle is almost certain of success. The teamster must guage his load not by what his horses the use of wide irres or a fine on narrow ones, on account of the condition of the roads. A Michigan inventor has devised a new and seemingly practical method for lighting trains of cars by electricity. In his idea the storage battery is brought into use and many of the great obstacles heretofore a'hindrance great obstacles heretolore amintrance to lightning trains by the electrical current have been overcome. A valuable feature is the device arranged to retain light in the cars at a standstill. In each car a small but powerfu storage battery is placed. While the train is in motion these batteries betrain is in motion these batteries be come charged. When the train stop, at the station, the power from the dynamo ceases, but automatically the storage batteries come into play, and light the train. A car may be cut of and thrown to a side track to await a connection, and the lights will be in service for six hours. The time can be increased at will by increasing the storage battery power. The headlight for the locomotive and every light in the train will be electric, and the tax on the power of the locomotive will be very small. The cost of the system is less than the ordinary lights pow in less than the ordinary lights use on railroads. The dynam arranged that it does not t plentiful surplus on hand last spring plented more than they otherwise would have done; so last spring's apparent loss will redound to this year's gain. Nature manures By Mulching

A hint from nature as how to manure properly is given by leaving a plat of poor soil to recurperate itself.

The first thing noted is that whatever grows on the soil, whether weeds or grass, falls and lies where it grew grass, falls and lies where it grew. Uthless the soil be very poor it makes the first year a pretty good mulch. The soluble portions of this growth are carried down into the soil by rains. Next year the growth of vegetation is larger, the mulch heavier, and the improvement of the soil is and the improvement of the soil is more rapid.—[Am. Cultivator-

Gossips About His Trip to Washing Same Things He Saw

"Are you going to the G. A. R. en campment?" was the question asked us weeks before it occurred, and by the number that seemed so interested I estimated about twenty 'would go from here, but when the hour drew near only one lady, Miss Ida Thomas, and four comrades were booked for Washington, D. C., via the elegant vestibuted night train of the N. N. & M. V. road. Nothing occurred to break the even tenor of our way, unless it was some woman losing her berth on the sleeper, and waking all in the car to find her place, It was a clear case of "wigwam lost, not Inian." Quiet being restored, some campment?" was the question asked in the car to mind her paces. I was clear case of "wifgwam lost, not Indian." Quiet being restored, some fat porker commenced "awing goords" with a cross-cut saw. So is sounded, until some humanitarian shouted "Fire!" in his ear, when he, the snores, rolled off the upper shelf and yelled for the porter to carry out his trunk first. All had a good laugh and then tried to go to skeep, but in vain, as three ladies by this time had become seasiek. The omnipresent doctor pulled his medicine bottle and gave them all some "vinif rumenti qs.," and peace and quiet reigned. Daylight found us in quiet reigned. Daylight found us in quiet reigned. Daylight found us in the W. Va. mountains. Can't de-scribe their beauties; 'befer you to steroscopie views on sale at the news stands. At Covington, where we halted for dinner, we met Capt. Chas. Peters and wife, and had a pleasant chat. Arrived at Staunton, Va., about 3p. m. Here begins historic ground. One old vet of J. E. B. Stuart's command, and a Yank of Kil-patrick's "criter backs" had a lively patrick's "critter backs" had a lively talk over their meetings in this part of the valley, which was very inter-esting. It brought up the contrast in my mind of war's horrors then and esting. It strongers to pure control to the and the peaceful, growing plenty of now. We passed Rapidan, Rappahanoc Culpepper, where Stonewall Jackson peppered us so we did not need any salt, Brandy Station, where it was hotter than new-made liquor of the same name, Manassas Junction, made historic by the two editions of Beil Run. I heard an old Yank say he had slept on every fire acres in this end of Virginia, which agreed with my own experience, and sometimes not without being interrupted, for this was Mosby's stampling ground, and his motto was "No peace for sleepy sinners." We soon ran in to Washington, which was a blaze of electric lights. The search light as electric lights. The search light as the army and navy, was used by the army mm mass; busy. It showed the numerous domes and spires, long distances as bright as smilght. We, contrades Jas. O'Conneil and Capt. Howell, found at the exit door, a man hunting for us to occupy his rooms, which we found neat and niety located near the Fish Commission building. O'Conneil said: "This will suit Doe," but I knew he has quite as great a but I knew he has quite as great a weakness for the finny tribe as any one. We saw thousands arriving, and went to sleep hearing the constant clang of engine belis bringing in the old scarworn veterans. Monday morning we looked about us and saw morning we looked about us and saw seas of soldiers, and concluded we would go to the Navy Yard, and ascer-tain it fucle Sam was building the right kind of guns and enough of them. We saw, and were satisfied, I will give you an idea of the im-mensity of the largest one in course of construction. They do not do as thus used to, take a long hole and pour iron around it, but take a long tube of steel with a bore of 13 inches in diiron around at, but takea long tube of lord and a distance of the lord long; then shrink others on outside of each predecessor until the breech is 4 ft. 1 in. in diameter outside. Then twelve jackets are shrunk on to each other in succession, until this monster is built, as a surface of the control of the an egg shell. This is the first of twelve to be built for our new battle ships. This, with three others, are intended for the turrets of the cruiser, Oregon, being built on the Pacific Coast. This monster gun will take six months to build, but those that follow will not consume near so much time, as machines are built large enough, and hofsting machinery in place will much shorten the time on the next. There is as near as I could the next. There is as near as I could guess 300 yards of this shop, with guess 2000 yards of this shop, with guins running crosswise as close as they can be worked upon. In the center is a great oven for heating each layer or jacket so as to shrink it on. When completed no joint can be seen, and it Jooks like one solid piece. I could fill your paper with detail-connected with this work. The Suconnected with this work. The Superintendent was a gentleman and patiently explained and answered all our questions. All sizes are in course of construction. It takes 1400 operatives to run this little side show (which is only one out of four), to make machines for killing people, and its is to be hoped that war will become so perfect and expensive that no nation can afford to go to war. After passing through the gun shops we went to the dock where the pneumatic dynamic cruleer, Vesuvius, 1839. All parts of this fast little ship could not by slied, as the eye of competition is be visited, as the eye of competition is be visited, as the eye of competition is excluded, as well as the sight seer, but, the nuzzles of three guns placed close together could be seen. These guns, fifty feet long, project their missies by compressed air at a pressure of 1300 pounds to the square inch.

How the Dog Accomplished by Strategy
What He Could Not Otherwise.

Like the western ranchman, Florida planters "roundup" their cattle at stated intervals to take account of them. On the ove of one such roundup every one took sides in a controversy as to the ability of Tige, a famous oil yellow dog, hero of much difficult cattle driving, "scarred, reckless, resourceful," to bring up to the pen a particularly wild and vicious black steer, whose lawlessness threatened to demondalie the senses threatened to demondalie the senses threatened to demondalie the sense of the steer, whose lawlessness threatened to demondalie the steer of the steer allowed neither man nor dog to come within whip touch. Tige, to his supporters anazement and disgust, kept well on the outskirts of the scrimmage, all the time with his eye on the black monster, whose bellowing shook the air.

At last the dog made one faltering run in the steer's direction. The creature rushed upon him, and therewith, without more ado, Tige started in mad, ignominious flight, tail between his legs, the picture of covardly terror, while the buil thundered after him with lowered head.

"Tige turn tail! Tige run " gasped the amazed and infuriated boys, who had maintained sturdly that the dog was bold enough and able to perform the feat.

had maintained sturdily that the dog was bold enough and able to perform the feat.

"Yes" shouted the tall old planter, their father and Tige's owner, as with herd well in hand they galloped after the vanishing dog and steer. "Dut before you shoot Tige notice where he is running to." It was not to the cattle peni and up to the total god the steer running to." It was wonderful, straight to the cattle peni and then where the cattle peni and then where was that cowardly dog!—Like a finsh of light over the wall and facing the pen gate, every muscle tense and ready for battle, his voice at the same time calling the men to come in and do the one thing he could not come which his magnificent strategy had brought there.

The boys were filled with admiration for Tige's brilliant strategy. The hat went around, and money enough was collected to buy Tige the finest of collars, the silver plate on which bore the date of an exploit that Homer need not have scorned to sing. "I believe Tige planned it all out,"

The success of Henry Mackenzie's sentimental novel, "The Man of Feeling," was very great. Eccles, a young Bath clergyman, availing himself of the circumstance that the author's name was very little known, transcribed the whole work, with ensures, corrections, smears and smudges, and on the strength of this manufactured copy gave himself to be the author, and adhered to his pretension with so much pertinacity that Mackenzie's publishers were compelled to adopt legal measures to vindicate his claim. In our time we have seen a similar fraud attempted with regard to "Adam Bede."—Centleman's Magazine.

An alephant story.

An elephant train was on its way from Lucknow to Seetapore, and one elephant becoming lame knelt down and refused to go on. The elephant next in the column stopped of its own secord, and when driven on turned back and began without instructions to remove some part of the load. Instances of aid rendered by birds to others in distress may also be found, showing that the instinct of sympathy exists and takes form in action when the causes of the sufferings are such that the fellow bird can understand and see its way to remodi.

There are two kiads of backachethe superficial and the esoteric backSuperficial and the esoteric backSuperficial backache is actual. It is seated in the back, as the name indicates. It is never very serious, and may be easily cured by porous plasters, red hot irons, suicide or other mild forms of counteriritant.

The esoteric backache is more subtle.

It may be a superficial that the subtle of the circumstances to throw wood into the shed or run on errands. It is a remarkable fact, but one established by long observation, nevertheless, that boys who are unquestionably subject to esoteric backache may do almost anything with impunity so long as they do it voluntarily. It is human minds have found a few pelbles of truth, while the ocean of psychological mystery spreads before them in immeasurable vastness.

The utilitarian school believes that counteriritation is the only remedy for esoteric backache also. A buggy whip or a burrel stave is equally productive of felicitous results.

Exposers for the Dising Reom.

"East and south," agys an architect, 'is the ideal exposure for a dising room. That lets in the morning sun than which nothing is more cheerful on a winter morning, and the southern exposure gets all the process going on asummer day." Persons in building do not half consider such questions, which is inexcussible in these days of multiplied sources of information on the subject. The saying of former times that "a first house has to be planned to know how to build the second" ought not now to build the second" ought not now to build the second of a $80,000 one.

One of the former seen lately had the "ideal dining room" facing east and south, and the small plazza on the east corner, was in winter glass inclosed and heated from the steam heat apparatus by sending a single coil of pipe around it. "Here we take sun beths on frosty mornings," explained the chatelaine. "With a rug and one or two very plant, it is the most, coxy and comfortable lounging place." Which may be a suggestion to others with such a nook as not yet utilized.—Her Point of View in New York Times.

In Mourning.

Here is a bit of talk reported verbatim from a well known woman of society, who had been compelled through family bereavement to go into mourning. On receiving her first visit of condolence she burst into tears and a rapid flow of ejaculatory talk peculiar to herself at one and the same time. "Yes, my dear; what I have been through no words can say!" (Sobs.) "I know I look perfectly frightful, it was allo strying! First poor mamma died, you know." (sob, sob.) "I shall look better when I have touched up' myself a little, but I really haven't the heart to do anything now—and then my brother had that dreafful accident which resulted fatally!
